Helen I am going to try and send you a copy of supporting documentation - it is from the Ingeniz Coders Desk Reference of Diagnoses. The scenario for the V62 section is the same as yours with the exclusion of the stressor. Don't strain when it comes to influenza coding. Codes for influenza are located in Chapter 10 (Diseases of the Respiratory System). It is important that we understand as coders to only code confirmed cases of influenza. Just as ICD-10-CM codes are used to translate clinical diagnoses into codified language, CPT codes identify diagnostic and therapeutic procedures and services. The coders desk reference for procedures states that this is typically done with an ACE wrap. It really does not matter what the physician uses to strap the joint with, as that is not what the code is about.
